

A Mini Stocking for Gromit

<jensoriginalsembroiderydesigns.yolasite.com>

Posted 2024 Mar 8

In my last project post, I featured my tiny toy Gromit, the clever dog companion of inventor Wallace in the Aardman claymation series. DH and I are big fans, and the addition of Gromit to my series of little

Mini Stocking toys was inspired, if I do say so myself! At the time of that writing, I hadn't yet created the perfect stocking for Gromit. Well, this past week, I did just that!

I wanted the perfect motif, and after some deliberation, I decided to go with the robotic pants from the film The Wrong Trousers (the pants predictably run amok until Gromit saves the day.)

At first I wasn't sure I'd be able to capture them effectively in such a small size (about 1.75"), but they turned out really well, and I'm thrilled with the result. I love how they look on the red sock!

I plan to keep this ornament for my own collection. And although Christmas is still 9 months away, already I can't wait to see it hanging on my tree!

